Piazza Grande (UNESCO heritage)

Piazza Grande, 41121, Modena, Italia

It has always been the beating heart of Modena, beautifully framed by the Cathedral, the Ghirlandina tower and the airy portico of the Town Hall, historical symbols of the city's political and religious institutions. The strong civil vocation of the square is still witnessed today by the presence of the Pietra ringadora, a huge stone boulder used in the communal age as a stage for oratories who "harangued" the crowd and as a stone of dishonor for insolvent debtors.

Ghirlandina - World Heritage Site

Piazza della Torre, 41121, Modena Italia

Next to the apse of the Cathedral, with its 89.32 meters, the Ghirlandina tower, the symbol of the city of Modena, projects upwards. The Ghirlandina was baptized by the Modenese with this nickname for the double round of balustrades that crown the spire, "as graceful as garlands". Built as the bell tower of the Cathedral, the tower has nevertheless played an important civic function since its origins: the sound of its bells marked the times of the life of the city, signaled the opening of the gates of the walls and summoned the population in situations of alarm and danger. Its mighty walls guarded the so-called "Sacristy" of the Municipality, where the coffers, public deeds and objects of high symbolic value such as the famous fourteenth-century "Secchia rapita" (now exhibited here in copy) were kept.

Palazzo Ducale di Modena

41121 Modena MO, used as Accademia Militare di Modena.

The Ducal Palace of Modena was the seat of the Este Court, of the Duchy of Modena and Reggio, between the 17th and 19th centuries; later, since the unification of Italy, the Palace has housed the prestigious Military Academy of Modena and a precious Library (which can be consulted on application to the Military Academy Headquarters). The edifice is one of the most important princely palaces of the seventeenth century, was constructed from 1634 onwards on the site of the ancient Este castle, which in the Middle Ages was located on the edge of the city.

Duomo di Modena

Corso Duomo, 41121 Modena MO, 059 216078, Orari: Sabato 07:30-12:30 · Riapre alle ore 15:30-19:00

June 9, 1099 represents a very important date for the city of Modena. On that day the first stone of the Modena Cathedral was laid, a splendid example of Romanesque art that amazed contemporaries, and which still continues to surprise for its extraordinary beauty and originality. A contemporary chronicle, the Relatio de innovatione ecclesiae Sancti Geminiani ..., informs us that the choice of the architect was made by miraculous divine inspiration:

the clergy and citizens of Modena entrusted the task of designing the Cathedral to Lanfranco, who gave life to a new and daring architecture, which formed a model for the Romanesque art that flourished after him.
